FIRE DAMAGES TWO AUTOS.

Two automobiles in the garage of Harry Wendell, rear of 1234 Maryland avenue northeast, were damaged by fire shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. One of the cars, the property of the Belmont Sales Company, 2115 14th street, was damaged to the amount of $1,500, while Wendell's machine sustained damage amounting to $200. The building was only slightly damaged. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Real Stuff.

Grown tired of all the modern books in which sex stuff prevails, I said, "Ods bodkins and gadzooks, I'll read some old-time tales. The authors of a bygone time wrote works that hit the spot, but modern authorship's a crime and modern books are rot." I took a Cooper story, then—a "Leather-stocking" yarn; the sight of it brought back again our old ancestral barn; there I would sit among the hay when I was but a child, and roamed with Cooper far away, in forests dark and wild. But now I turned the pages o'er and heaved some weary sighs; I found each character a bore, a preacher in disguise. The paleface hero strove to teach a lesson worth our while; the noble red men paused to preach in every forest aisle. The lovely damsels rode around on palfreys black and white, and preached a while whenever they found an audience in sight. The luckless captive didn't screech when burning at the stake; he merely saw a chance to preach, and windy maxims make. I read that book an hour or two, then threw it on the floor, and sighed, "Great Scott! Can it be true that once it didn't bore? And was I ever young enough to think that story fine? And did I ever read such stuff and thrill all up my spine?"
